

Interested in becoming a Bradpole Civil Parish Councillor?

Parish Councils have a wide range of legal duties and powers, such as the maintenance of community land & facilities and much more. They have the power to raise money through the local council tax.

The civil parish of Bradpole has some 2300 residents and there are currently vacancies on the council for people that have the time and commitment to represent the civil parish community in the many decisions that councillors make. These vacancies can be filled under the Parish Council's Co-option Policy.

These may include, but are not limited to:

- giving views on planning applications and other proposals that affect the civil parish.
- undertaking projects and schemes that benefit local residents.
- working in partnership with other bodies to achieve benefits for the parish.
- alerting relevant authorities to problems that arise or work that needs to be done.

If you want to do more for your community, if you want to spend your time productively, and if you can think, listen and act locally why not become a Parish Councillor?
